FROM RECORD COMPILED BY J.R. AND WILLIAM HARTLEY
OF CHRISMAN, ILL., IN 1908.

The Hartley's are of English Quaker origin, who came from the Mother Country, England, to America, prior to 1702, probably about 1682 or 3

There seems to have been four or more of the pioneer Hartleys, probably brothers, who came from England; they were Anthony Hartley, James Hartley, Edward Hartley and Henry Hartley.

Edward Hartley and Henry Hartley, two brothers, pioneers in America settled in Solesbury Township, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia prior to 1702. Anthony Hartley a "Vintner" (Wine Merchant) purchased land in Philadelphia in 1714 and died there in 1732 apparently without issue, his will names no children but devises his estate to his brothers, James Hartley, Henry Hartley and sister Mary and wife Mary.

Edward Hartley was a resident of Solesbury when a deed was made to him May 28, 1702 for 300 acres of land there, upon which he lived until his death in 1745. Tho he had conveyed the greater part thereof to his two sons, Thomas and Roger Hartley, he was not a member of the Society of Friends but his two sons, Thomas and Roger, made application for membership in Buckingham Meeting in 1724. The land was located near the line of Buckingham Township, and less than a mile from Buckingham Meeting-house, where the Friends of both townships worshipped until 1810, when a meeting house was erected. The will of Edward Hartley registered in the registrar's of will office at Colletstown in Will Book No. 2 Page 52 is dated fourth month, June 13, 1744, and was probated a year and a day later, June 14, 1745. (Under the old calendar prior to 1752, March was the first month of the year) This will devised his estate to daughter Jennet Hughes, and his son Thomas Hartley, and his son Roger's seven children as they arrived at the age of 21 years, real estate to sons, Thomas and John Hartley; Roger Hartley, the second son, died September 3rd, 1743, in his 41st year, he had married June 21, 1727, Rebecca Paker who after his death married Matthew Aspden, Jr., who died without issue leaving an immense estate to his half brothers and sisters and their representatives, then much scattered over the United States which has been a source of considerable agitation and litigation among the Hartley's to this day.

Thomas Hartley, son of Edward Hartley, one of the pioneer brothers was born about 1700, died 1787, made application for membership in Buckingham Meeting of the Society of Friends October 1, 1724, and was admitted two months later. In February 1725 or 6 he declared intentions of marriage before this meeting with Elizabeth Paxson, a daughter of Henry Paxson of Solebury and on March 1, 1725 or 6 they were granted permission to accomplish their said intentions according to the good order maintained among Friends. On June 19, 1727, his father conveyed to him

PREFACE

The last written, usually, though the first read by most intelligent book men, is this page; hence it is, that authors often use this privilege to fence against adverse criticism, or apologize for errors of omission or commission. Singular forgetting the fact that nothing of man's creation is perfect and that the dear critics are not only busy pointing out "the mistakes of others," but are exploiting upon the faults of creation itself.

We welcome them all, for doubters and critics we esteem the salt of every civilization and we will rest content. That every person competent to know, after even a superficial examination will realize that the whole has not been the work of "the idle singer of an empty day."

Instead of devoting a large space to prehistoric times, it is intended to make this a live Cyclopedia which, while it preserves much that is valuable in the past, will include the names and dates of those that are molding the thoughts of the present time.

This Record, we believe, will supply an invaluable and useful means for establishing identity, of relationship, etc.

J. R. and William Hartley are descendants of the Fifth Generation from Edward Hartley, one of the pioneer brothers from England.

The Hartleys are of English Quaker origin, who came from the Mother Country, England, to America, prior to 1702, probably about 1682 or 3.

There seems to have been four or more of the pioneer Hartleys probably brothers who came from England: they were Anthony Hartley, James Hartley, Edward Hartley and Henry Hartley.

Edward Hartley and Henry Hartley, two brothers, pioneers in America settled in Solebury township, Bucks county, Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia prior to 1702. Anthony Hartley, a "Ventner" (Wine Merchant) purchased land in Philadelphia in 1714 and died there in 1732 apparently without issue, his will names no children but devise his estate to his brothers, James Hartley, Henry Hartley and sister Mary and wife Mary.

Edward Hartley was a resident of Solebury when a deed was made to him May 28, 1702, for 300 acres of land there, upon which he lived until his death in 1745. Tho he had conveyed the greater part thereof to his two sons, Thomas and Roger Hartley, he was not a member of the society of Friends but his two sons, Thomas and Roger, made application for membership in Buckingham Meeting in 1724. The land was located near the line of Buckingham township, and less than a mile from Buckingham Meeting-house, where the Friends of both townships worshiped until 1810, when a meeting house was erected. The will of Edward Hartley registered in the registrar's of will office at Doilestown in Will Book No. 2, Page 52, is dated fourth month, June 13, 1744, and was probated a year and a day later, June 14, 1745. (Under the old calendar prior to 1752, March was the first month in the year). This will devised his estate to daughter Jennet Hughes, his son Thomas Hartley, and his son Roger's seven children as they arrive at the age of 21 years, real estate to sons, Thomas and John Hartley; Roger Hartley, the second son, died September 3, 1743, in his 41st year, he had married June 21, 1727, Rebecca Paker who after his death married Matthew Aspden, and had a son Matthew Aspden, Jr., who died without issue leaving an immense estate to his half-brothers and sisters and their representatives, then much scattered over the United States which has been a source of considerable agitation and litigation among the Hartleys to this day.

The children of Roger and Rebecca (Packer) Hartley were Jennet who died unmarried; Bathseba who died in infancy; Ann, who married William Hinchman; Roger, three times married; Benjamin James, a Merchant of Philadelphia, died without issue; Bathseba the second, who married Elnathan Zane; and Rebecca who married John Haigh of New Jersey. John Hartley died in 1757 leaving a widow, Sarah, and children, William, Judith, John, Jonathan, Ann and Thomas; the last two under age.

Thomas Hartley, son of Edward Hartley, one of the pioneer brothers was born about 1700, died 1787, made application for membership in Buckingham Meeting of the Society of Friends, Oct. 1, 1724, and was admitted two months later. In February 1725 or 6

he declared intentions of marriage before this meeting with Elizabeth Paxson, daughter of Henry Paxson of Solebury and on March 1, 1725 or 6 they were granted permission to accomplish their said intentions according to the good order maintained among Friends. On June 19, 1727, his father conveyed to him 100 acres of land, part of the old homestead and at his death devised him another portion thereof, in addition to this he purchased adjoining lands and at his death owned about 500 acres of land lying contiguous in Solebury Township north of the present village of Lahaska. His will dated January 27, 1787, devised land to sons, Anthony, Benjamin and William, and daughter Letitia Rice, and to son Joseph, One Hundred Pounds. Other legacies to grandchildren, etc.

The children of Thomas and Elizabeth (Paxson) Hartley, who were married March 1, 1725 or 6 were:
