

Weighing the babies. A babies' dairy, where modified milk is prepared at moderate cost, is maintained in each of the two great East Side blocks owned by the City and Suburban Homes Company.

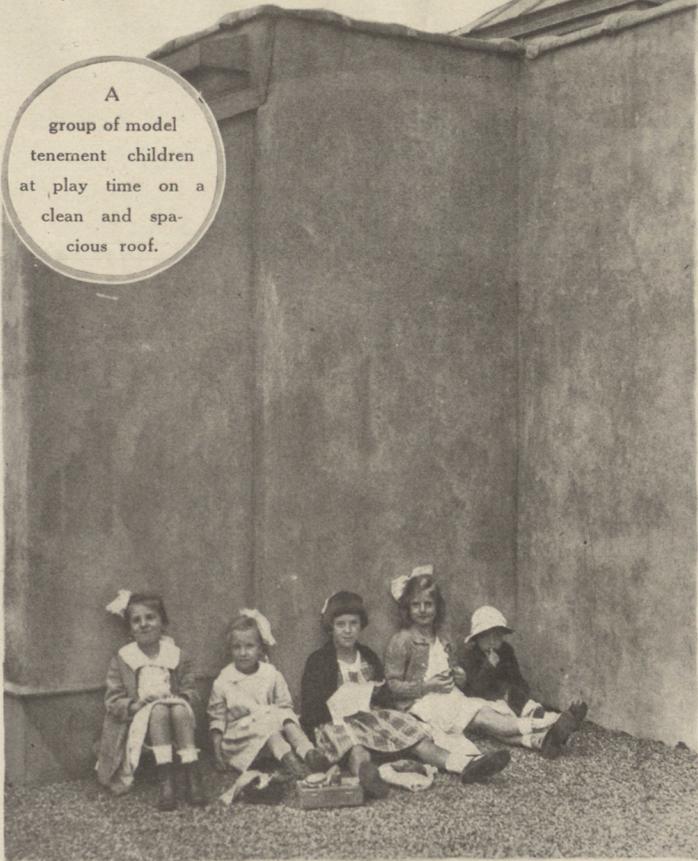

Where Cleanliness Pays Dividends in Health. There Is No Infantile Paralysis in These Spotless East Side Tenements.

The court of the East Sixty-fourth Street block. The law against obstructing fire escapes is enforced.

Refuse is disposed of in an incinerator. This is "Marse Henry," janitor of the negro tenements.

A group of model tenement children at play time on a clean and spacious roof.

Training in sanitation begins early. The Lenox Hill Settlement encourages it.

ENTRANCE COURT IN ONE OF THE TENEMENTS

Miss Louise Taylor, superintendent of housekeeping in the City and Suburban Homes Company's tenements, is seated at the left; beside her is Miss H. Virginia Cogswell, manager of the Junior League Hotel. George W. R. Fallon, secretary of the City and Suburban Homes Company, is standing at the left, beside Allan Robinson, president of the company.