

"Near the Journey's End." The bodyguard of King Peter of Serbia leading the retreat of his army through the mountain passes of Albania.

© International News Service

These are the delegates in session at the English labor conference which voted in London to fight conscription. The photograph shows plainly the type of Englishman who won't be forced to fight if he can help it.

© International News Service.