

It is perfectly clear that storm warnings are flying in "Fair and Warmer." At the Eltinge.

"The Great Lover (Leo Ditrichstein) learns that he will never sing again. At the Longacre.

A Long Spell of "Fair and Warmer" Is the Spring Weather Forecast.

Elsie Ferguson and Norman Trevor in "Margaret Schiller," at the New Amsterdam.

Madge Kennedy and John Cumberland in slumberland 'neath the spell of "Fair and Warmer." At the Eltinge.

Richard Carle and Valli Valli, confirmed and habitual fun makers in "The Cohan Revue, 1916." At the Astor Theatre.

"The Melody of Youth"—prescribed for those who have lost it. On tap at the Fulton.

"Abe & Mawruss" is full of laugh, but it wins because it's human. At the Lyric.