HORTENSE, ELOISE AND OSCAR Elk are very fond, as you may see by the picture, of their father. All are set on having a set of horns like his, but father has yet to tell them that Oscar is the only one who stands a chance.

BEING A BABY is bad enough, but being a baby zebu is worse, if possible. Which may account for the resigned expression on little Edna Zebu's countenance. Nothing to look forward to but growing up to be a zebu.

The Fall Kindergarten Class at the Central Park Zoo.

Pach Photo News, Inc.

THIS YOUNGSTER hasn't yet matriculated, but is on his way from London to join Bill Snyder's class. He is a son of the Chameleon family. © Underwood & Underwood.

ONE OF THE FRISKIEST of this year's baby class is little Jennie Angora, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angora—the Central Park North Angoras, you know.

ROSIE BISON, besides being one of the huskiest children in the lot, makes the most noise at dinner time. Rosie and her mother are on their way to dinner now. Mother is a patient soul, but she eats like an ox.

LITTLE SUZANNE DEER might be called Teacher Snyder's pet. She never misses a day at school, rain or shine, and, while playful, is well behaved.

GRACE, HELEN AND WILBUR Fallow Deer are cousins of Suzanne Red Deer, and equally tractable pupils. Professor Snyder says all the little deers are little darlings.

BILL SNYDER, the gentleman on the left, is dean of the Zoo faculty. Leo, Leonine and Lena-Lou Lion go to school to him.